WISE BUYING OF FEED AND FUEL

Buying right is as important to the business man as selling at a profit. In fact he cannot sell at a profit if he does not buy to advantage. Buying right is equally important to the family. The time to buy feed, for instance, is when prices are lowest. The time to buy fuel during warm weather, because others usually wait until it is cold before they order their fuel and when there is little or no market for a commodity the price declines. The place to buy feed and fuel is listed in the Buyers Guide on the classified page.

ABOLISHMENT OF TWO FARE RATE TO COUNTY LINE MAY BE EFFECTED BY KEY CO.

THREE STREET CAR FRANCHISES WILL BE PUT ON SALE TO HIGHEST BIDDER ON NOVEMBER 28

Three street railway franchises, that were applied for by the Key System company will be advertised for sale and sold to the highest bidder on the night of November 28th.

At an adjourned meeting of the council held last evening resolutions were adopted ordering the franchise advertised.

PLAN TWO FARE ABOLISHMENT

A bit of pleasing information that was brought out in connection with the discussion was the statement made by Paul St. Sure, for the Key System, that the company would use every effort to do away with the two fare system, between the county line and Richmond, and ask the railroad commission to rezone the territory, and place in effect a one fare system. This is a matter that has been the bone of contention for years, and for which the Key System has been bitterly condemned many times.

THREE FRANCHISES The proposed franchises take in the Macdonald avenue or main line, what is known as the Sixth street line, and the Twenty-third-San Pablo line, cutting off the present franchise at Macdonald and San Pablo, and eliminating the tracks that formerly ran to Grand canyon park.

Transportation, possibly a bus service will be provided for the residents of the eastern section of the city.

TO RUN 50 YEARS The franchises to be sold are to run for a period of fifty years, and will provide for the paving between the tracks to be done by the city, and also that no tracks are to be relocated within a period of three years with the exception of the tracks on Standard avenue, so that the paving program on that street can proceed.

Just before the passage of the resolutions, Mayor Mattie Chandler stated that City Attorney Carlson was to make a statement as to the position of the council in the franchise matters.

FOR BEST INTERESTS "I feel," said City Attorney T. M. Carlson "that the arrangement that has been made with the traction company will be for the best interests of all. When this matter of the abandonment of the cross town lines as asked for by the traction company was first brought up, Attorney De Lap and myself advised the council that it was up against a losing proposition. Our investigation of the Key System records showed that the cross town lines were losing, and at the same time the city of Richmond more precarious. At the San Lorenzo line hearing, the protestants were represented by one of the most able law firms in San Francisco, Phillips, Madison and Sutro, assisted by District Attorney Earl Warren of Alameda county, but in spite of all of their efforts they received an adverse decision from the railroad commission.

SAN LORENZO SIMILARITY The commission in rendering its decision in the San Lorenzo matter had the following to say: "The record shows the branch line to have been operated for many years at a substantial deficit; that the revenues from operation have not met the actual out-of-pocket expenditures for platform labor and power, there being no return for maintenance of track and roadbed, maintenance of equipment, depreciation, transportation expenses (other than power and wages) (Continued on Page 8.)

Meyers Fined $200 For El Cerrito Crash

MARTINEZ, Oct. 19.—Pleading guilty to a charge of reckless driving, O. F. Meyers, 25, a tool dresser, was fined $200 yesterday by Justice of the Peace Frank Glass.

Meyers was arrested following an automobile accident in El Cerrito on October 6 in which P. A. Gnaga, and George Seaman, both of El Cerrito, were injured. The two men were thrown from a horse-drawn wagon on which they were riding when it was struck by an automobile, the driver of which failed to stop and give aid.

Three hours after the accident occurred, according to the police, Meyers reported his automobile as stolen to the Contra Costa county sheriff's office. The machine, which struck the wagon was discovered to be that of Meyers and he was arrested.

Charges of failing to stop and render aid and of driving an automobile while intoxicated were originally filed against Meyers by Gnaga, but these actions were later dropped and the reckless driving charge filed in their stead.

URGE CIRCUS FOR DRY LAW ENFORCEMENT

And so he climbed on the wagon when hallucinations informed him that a Big Parade of camels and elephants had invaded Contra Costa. Beer to the amount of 110 pints was smashed right and left.

That is the story they tell on a new convert to Volstead and the authority is Constable Harry Stowe of Walnut Creek. He insists that the afore-said gentleman invaded his office with the hectic demand that the pledge be produced for his immediate signature.

"I saw camel and elephant trucks toward Danville," he said. "Contra Costa county doesn't produce 'em—it must be that home-made beer." And so saying he swore by arterial sclerosis and heart flutter that liquor should claim him its victim no more.

ANTI-CLIMAX: Stowe reports that a few moments after the pledge was signed three elephants and seven camels, part of an animal show which had exhibited in Danville the night before, passed through Walnut Creek. Is there no justice?

Knott said last night: "The more I traveled, the more I liked Contra Costa county, the state and Richmond. And I'm glad to be back."

Knott enjoyed the Big Fight— from a distance of three blocks— the "Battle of Binoculars" was just that and furnished a thriving business for ambitious oculists, he reports.

"SECRECY" IS CHARGED FALL IN OIL LEASE

Sinclair Paid $25,000 For "Legal Work" Is Claim of Defense

By JOHN A. KENNEDY (By Universal Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—The government scored a point in the Fall-Sinclair trial today when Assistant Secretary of the Interior E. C. Finney testified that the famous Teapot Dome naval oil lease was consummated behind closed doors in the Interior Department and every detail cloaked in strictest secrecy at Fall's mandatory order.

Finney was the first important witness for the government as the two contending forces in the great oil drama got down to the meat of the trial to determine the guilt or innocence of the former Cabinet officer and his defendant, Harry E. Sinclair, oilman and millionaire, charged with conspiracy to defraud the government of its naval oil reserves.

Earl F. Martin, 130 on, chief counsel for Sinclair, had outlined the defense position and generally and specifically denied that his wealthy client had given Fall $250,000 in Liberty bonds as a consideration for the Teapot contract.

NO BRIBE, CLAIM

The eloquent and chubby Littleton admitted Sinclair paid the former Interior Secretary $25,000 in Liberty bonds soon after Fall had left President Harding's Cabinet in 1923, but insisted the transaction was an advance on a fee Sinclair was to pay Fall for legal work incident to a trip to Russia in the interest of the oil company.

Littleton revealed that the defense will win or lose on the plea of patriotism—that Sinclair, Fall and Secretary of the Navy Edwin Denby and Admiral John K. Robinson, chief movers in the naval oil leases—were impelled by the highest motives of patriotic interest in their country's welfare in consummating the transaction.

He denied the Government's claim that the lease was executed in secrecy, maintaining it was necessary to lease the reserve and store the oil extracted therefrom to prevent drainage from owners of adjoining oil land.

"FALL IN MINOR ROLE"

Likewise, he declared, Fall was not the moving personage in the transaction, but that the lease was in reality planned, drafted and executed by subordinates in the Interior and Navy departments.

The government charged in its opening statement that the $250,000 realized from the sale of the two blocks of Liberty bonds connected with Fall accounts connected with a bribe which caused the former Interior Department chief to favor Sinclair over all other possible lessees in the Teapot dome transaction.

The first $230,500 of the bonds the government had traced from the Continental Trade Corporation, Ltd., of Canada, an affiliated Sinclair company, to Fall's son-in-law, declaring the proceeds were utilized for payment of Fall's debts and otherwise.

Taking up this point, Littleton today urged upon the jury of two women and ten men that the Government's allegations were false.

"Nothing will appear in the evidence to indicate Mr. Sinclair had the slightest interest in the Continental Trading Company," he said. "Sinclair never had a bond that the company had, and it will be made clear he never had anything to do with a bond of the description mentioned by the government. He never passed a bond to Fall or anyone in behalf of Fall."

Littleton dealt with the secrecy surrounding the deal, but insisted that the "mouth shut" policy was then ordered to leave the city.

ABOUT NAVIES

The London Referee declares that "for no consideration on earth will England consent to surrender the right and power to protect her own empire by the means by which it was won. She was born of the sea; by the sea she will hold her own and only she will determine the limit of the sea power needed to discharge that task."

This is a position which, as Americans we have, of course, no right to criticize. If Great Britain believes that her safety and the integrity of her empire demand a big navy then the British government would of course be recreant in its duty if it did not maintain a big navy.

But it does not follow that because Great Britain needs, or thinks she needs an imposing navy, that America should accept inferiority in the naval line. We have a pretty good country ourselves. We have lots of commerce, both the transoceanic and coastwise, and most of this commerce would be endangered in event of war. It is entirely probable therefore that some of our own safety depends on a good sized American navy, despite the opinion of a number of pacifists and internationalists to the contrary.

The Worcester Telegram, with this British position in mind, well sums up the situation in the following paragraph:

"America is naturally impressed by the British opinion. If world conditions make it advisable for Great Britain to have a powerful navy, it would be no less wise for the United States to have a powerful navy too. It is a compelling argument."

And there you are. Rather than continue to discuss with our British cousins what now seems to be purely a theoretical question, let us see that our own naval needs are taken care of.

Sometimes you wonder why some fellows who ought to know better, want to recognize soviet Russia, but when you learn that Russia possesses thirteen per cent of the world's total oil reserve you begin to discern the Ethiopian in the wood pile.

This is settle-down week. Coming right after the first of the month, which gave us settle-up week, the current seven days is devoted to getting over the excitement of the world series and back to normalcy.

Fire prevention week so far has not been marred with a single call upon the fire department. However let us knock on wood.

How To Earn Money!

For a long time I have been thinking I would like to earn my own money and would like to open a sandwich shop. I have had several years' experience in this line. Would it take a great deal of money to start? Do you think I could start a room downtown about Cortlandt to Rector street for a location I could make it pay?

Your rent, of course, would be the biggest item, for your supplies would not be bought in any great quantities and you would get cash back as soon as you began to sell your food. We all have to eat and most of us, I think, go back to the place where we get really good food even if it is only a sandwich.

You have helped so many people I wonder if you can help me? I am 26 years old and keep house for my father. I get so lonely during the day I don't know what to do. I love to write. I could write all day and not get tired. Maybe you could give me some advice.

HOME GIRL

Do you mean that you aspire to become an author? You certainly are a fine penman. Your letter was beautiful. Write to me again, my dear.

I have a good husband and two small boys that go to school and I am alone all day. I feel that I would like to earn a little money. The only thing I can do is nursing, and I wondered if there is some way I could do this a few hours a day.

GOOD MANNERS

By Frances Allen
Q. Is it not bad form for a hostess to be continually apologizing for the little shortcomings of her home, family or service?

A. A perfect hostess never apologizes. There is nothing more tiresome than the hostess who is constantly apologizing. She makes the guests feel like going home and so relieving the situation.

Q. After a dance must a man thank his partner, or should he merely excuse himself and claim the next partner?

A. He must always thank the girl. In replying she may use the expression: "I enjoyed it too." She does not thank the man, for it is he who has received the favor.

Q. Should one use the initials R. S. V. P. on cards, invitations or letters when an answer is expected?

A. No. The well-bred person knows enough to answer or acknowledge correspondence without being told to do so.

FIVE ENSEMBLES

In the present made there are five types of ensembles—a tailored costume of top coat and suit, a sports costume, one for general wear, and afternoon and evening ensembles.

The sports costume is of much importance, for it is an ensemble that many smart women wear all day, except of course, for formal occasions of the afternoon. It is smart in town or country.

What Your FACE TELLS

©c.1927- by Betty Morrison PSY.D.

It is scientifically true that a high forehead indicates a naturally keen, powerful intellect, with a tendency towards an idealistic mind.

Foreheads are not only high or low, but they are also wide or narrow, round or square. And the characteristics are modified not only by the size of the forehead but by its shape.

The high forehead indicates fine mental qualities; when it is high and wide, it indicates not only great intellect, but also breadth of view.

When the forehead is narrow, as in this illustration, the vision is narrow. The ideals are high, but the great mental breadth of the high, wide forehead is lacking. This type individual has a tendency toward specialization. He enjoys gathering much information about matters of little significance about matters of little significance. Persons with narrow heads are and in consequence they are not leaders. They are not good money-getters. They are more interested in the world of art than finance. They are modest and submissive, and extremely kind and sympathetic.

Do Not Give Up Too Much For Your Little Daughter

Dear Mrs. Hall-Deane—

"You seem always so willing I wonder if you will help me solve my problem. My little daughter is just at the awkward age—13 years—and is also very sensitive about her clothes."

"We have been in the city only a short time, but have a wide circle of acquaintances, as my husband's family lives here."

"Now I don't want my little girl to feel cramped and embarrassed over her clothes when she goes out with her little cousins and am willing to make any sacrifice to get pretty clothes for her. I haven't bought a garment for myself in over a year but I don't mind. I have put off getting her fall outfit because I am puzzled about what to buy. What do you consider a suitable fall wardrobe for a 13-year-old girl who seems to have grown all to legs and arms? She is a brunette. Thanks. MRS. E."

The very smartest wardrobe for a girl of 13, regardless of her type or station in life, is the simplest. The over-dressed girl is always awkward and unattractive. If you will confine your purchase to simple, girlish lines and garments sparingly trimmed, you can not go far wrong.

No doubt you will be able to glean many ideas from the wardrobe outlined below. It represents the autumn purchases of the best dressed 13-year-old among my acquaintances.

Her first choice was a nifty coat in tan tweeds with a flattering shawl collar of lap fox. Her party frock was a "picture" model of black chiffon velvet with a big chon of bright blue ribbon at the waist—the bodice straight and slender, the skirt rather full. For school wear she selected several pretty jersey dresses, the prettiest one being a wine colored cardigan model with striped pull-over. Her next purchase was a simple afternoon dress of silk crepe. Last came a coat frock of velveteen with pique collar.

With exception of the topcoat and one jersey dress all of these garments were made at home and the outlay of money was surprisingly small.

Frankly, I think you are making a great mistake to make all kinds of sacrifices in order that your little daughter may have pretty clothes. Certainly it is very young girl's right to be as neatly and attractively dressed as her parents' purse will allow, but this does not mean that one must sacrifice everything. Too much self-sacrifice on the part of mother often makes daughter selfish, unreasonable and unhappy.

She soon gets to the point where nothing pleases her. It is a wise mother who tempers self-sacrifice with reason and good judgment.

Again let me stress simplicity in the matter of Little Daughter's wardrobe. Not only is it the rule of the day when it comes to smartness and good taste, but it is the surest way of forestalling self-consciousness and affectation in the growing child.

Soft Curves Are Beauty's Lure

Symmetry is a word most commonly used when describing real beauty. Proportion is another. A woman, if she is truly beautiful, has both of these prerequisites.

A curving line is more beautiful than a sharp angle. That is why, despite all this fuss about boyish figures, a girl clinging to plumpness is usually more attractive than a girl who is thin, undernourished and usually angular into the bargain.

A pair of thin, gawky arms will spoil an otherwise beautiful figure. Ankles that are too thick and legs that are too heavy will make the rest of the figure seem out of proportion.

It is weight distribution that makes for true beauty. This can only be secured through exercise.

Hins that are too heavy are usually found when a girl has lazy, "sitting around" habits. She should walk more, do a few rolling exercises to take off the extra weight.

If your neck and shoulders are thin, try massaging them regularly. One day it won't do any good, but once a day for a month will bring a noticeable improvement.

If you find that your weight is distributed unevenly, get a work specialist in exercise for that part of the body. Don't expect magic results, but keep after it day after day, week after week, month after month.

Old San Francisco

BY ALLIE LOWE MILES

Don Hernandez Vasquez and his beautiful granddaughter Dolores occupy the old Vasquez hacienda and broad acres overlooking San Francisco Bay, originally granted to the first Vasquez in 1776 by King Philip of Spain. The property that has come to San Francisco as the result of the discovery of gold has passed by the Vasquez ranch where Dolores and her grandfather have lived for many years.

Terry moved closer and closer to the balcony as he played and then, when he was directly beneath her, he suddenly looked up, smiled mockingly and caught her by surprise.

"Oh!" she exclaimed, starting nervously. "There was no time to retreat. She was conscious of blushing, but not of her smile. "Seorita, come down—please!" coaxed Terry.

Dolores said, "No!" very faintly but shook her head vigorously. "Come down and play for me," he pleaded, holding out the guitar invitingly. "I can only strum. Play 'Spanish Moonlight.' I have always wanted to hear it by someone who knew how—I am sure you do," he flattered irresistibly.

By good Irish luck he had mentioned her favorite air. She hesitated only a moment and then with a mischievous laugh, because she knew she was doing wrong, Dolores ran lightly down the steps and held out both hands for the instrument.

Terry gave it to her automatically. Her beauty was like the vivid, fresh fragrance of a gorgeous flower. He was not to draw nearer and touch her to make sure she was real, yet was afraid his very presence would blight her existence. For a moment the world stood still, his temples throbbed and her loveliness filled every convolution of his brain. His heart beat wildly as if rejoicing that its mate had been found. Terry knew something had happened to him, but at the moment he was not sane enough to call it by its right name, "LOVE."

"And to think I have never seen you before!" he sighed in regret. Dolores glanced at him quickly from the corners of her eyes. "I came to play for you," she reminded, all unconscious of the coquettish look in her eyes, and sitting beside the fountain she dutifully began the opening chords of "Spanish Moonlight."

For a long time neither spoke. Finally Terry's admiring gaze made Dolores raise her head until their eyes met and held.

"What your name?" he asked softly, in time with the music. "Dolores—I am named after the Dolores Mission that used to be called 'Old San Francisco de Asis.'"

Terry nodded in approval. He felt that the name he had ever heard could have suited her better. "Call me 'Terry' will you?" he asked earnestly.

"I'll try," and for the first time Dolores looked away from his eyes. It made her feel just a little lonely. She wondered what would happen when his grandfather came out and found her talking with a strange young man who had not been properly presented. However, she dismissed all thought of sending him away. Nothing quite so exciting as their meeting had ever happened at the rancho before.

Dolores knew she should not feel that way about an unconventional thing, but she did.

"I have never seen you in town—Dolores," Terry's voice broke into her thoughts. "Where do you go when you come in?"

"I have never been to San Francisco, senior," replied Dolores a bit regretfully, then she paused to recall how his voice sounded when he said her name. She liked it. "We Vasquez are Spanish, you know," she continued. "Our women remain at home."

"That seems unreasonable," Terry frowned his indignation at the secluded, custom. "The town is glorious! Haven't you even seen its theatres, its wonderful cafes—its famous Cocktail Route?"

"No—none of them." She had often thought she would like to go and had spent many a solitary twilight hour dreaming about what town life was like.

"It is unbelievable," and Terry launched forth in a description of the Old San Francisco that was so near her home and which tradition prevented her enjoying.

As he chatted on with increasing animation, Dolores stole several furtive glances. Her admiring face was obvious. She quickly turned away to avoid his direct scrutiny.

He suddenly forgot what he was saying, and just looked at her dumbly. She glanced back and their eyes met once more. Both laughed, a little embarrassed. Dolores recovered herself first.

"I live in a world apart from all that," she said shaking her dainty head. "I am afraid this paradise you speak of would never accept me."

"You are mistaken. It would worship you!" Dolores liked Terry's flattery but it was embarrassing. Bending over her guitar to hide crimson cheeks she finished the song in record time and put the instrument aside to pick a red rose bud.

"May I have it?" Terry held out his hand.

OLDEST DEED

IS SOLD FOR

25 CENTS

LOAN, Oct. 19.—A deed, believed to be the oldest in existence, associating the ancestors of George Washington with Sulfgrave Manor, was found in an old box which John Bennett, a farmer of Adderbury, near Banbury, purchased for 25 cents at a sale of some property of his late uncle.

The deed is dated 1597, and purports to be a transfer of land at Sulfgrave, bearing the signature in plain handwriting of Laurence Washington and Robert Washington, and underneath each it attached the seal of the Washington family. It is presumed the deed is the oldest in existence, connecting the Washingtons and Sulfgraves. That at Sulfgrave Manor House, hitherto considered the oldest, is dated 1599.

Experts in ancient manuscripts are of the opinion that the document is very valuable as it was Laurence Washington who was the original Washington owner of Sulfgrave Manor.

BRILLIANT FILM OF GREAT WAR AT CALIFORNIA

John Gilbert, in that magnificent screen triumph, "The Big Parade," came to the California Theatre last Monday and proved that all his popularity is fully deserved. The picture is a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production, directed by King Vidor.

"The Big Parade" is the picture which launched Gilbert as a star. No player has been more fortunate in the choice of a first starring vehicle, for the picture is a tremendous and authentic portrayal of the war, a masterpiece in emotion, a great human comedy. Gilbert is a great human comedy, a great human comedy, a great human comedy.

French girl, Melizande, is unforgettable. Miss Adoree is a natural-born actress and in her part proves to have heretofore unsuspected histrionic power.

Slim To Waist And Then-- Full

Narrow shoulders, close fitting sleeves and plain blouses contribute to the effect of slimmest above the waist while skirts are full, says Anne Rittenhouse, fashion authority. She says:

"Paris exploits the slim silhouette above the hips, especially now in the movement for fuller skirts. The torso, as sculptors put it, is reduced to its least proportions. This is achieved by small armholes, narrow shoulders, fitted sleeves, and underarm seams lengthened as far as comfort will permit. Four French designers, Doucet, Molynex, Dreyer and Martial et Armand illustrate this truth. In each there is a strong contrast between skirt and bodice. Drapery and godets are increased in size on the skirts. Often the width of sleeve below the elbow matches the skirt fullness.

"Paris shows sleeves that fit like a glove. They are termed snake sleeves by some men. These four gowns from Paris designers prove the fashion. The sleeves are fitted expertly and contribute to slimmest, a fashion helpful to those with large shoulders.

"In one of the new frocks to wear under full coats. Worth shows a conservative version of the Turkish trouser skirt. The fullness is in front of the blouse and skirt and the back is plain. Another frock shows the new use for applied bands of ribbon, a trick which Molynex likes. Martial et Armand play up the coat frock, a popular styling designed to slenderize the hips. Dreyer uses a scarf and girdle as decoration.

"Goupy shows a frock with the cape at the back of the gown which serves as a wrap. In others, it is merely decorative. Paron emphasizes the full effect of the skirt at the front. Dreyer shows a sleeveless jacket

CLASSES WILL OPEN EARLIER AT R. U. H. S.

Under the recent law providing that a full forty-minute period must be spent in actual recitations, classes at the Richmond Union High School will begin at 8:08 instead of 8:30 a. m. as formerly. The new schedule will go into effect today.

Before the new law went into effect the periods were of thirty-seven minutes. The additional three minutes for each period made the starting of classes at an earlier hour necessary. The present dismissal time in the afternoon will be maintained if possible.

The change in the schedule was voted upon by the student association. One group was in favor of changing from ten to nine periods with the present school hours. The other group was for ten periods with classes starting twenty-two minutes earlier in the morning. When the vote was taken by President Robert Van Fleet, the halting stood in favor of the early opening.

To complete a 3-piece sports costume, Jane Remy sponsors the two-piece idea though one of her sports models is made and put on in one-piece.

Mother Kills Self After Poisoning Idiot Son

CRUSHED by the plight of her eldest born, a lad of 16 with a child's brain, Mrs. Ignace Iwanski of Brooklyn committed murder and suicide as an act of mercy. She gave the boy a cup of poison and drank another herself. Taunts which children of the neighborhood showered on the feeble-minded child are blamed for hastening the tragedy. Photos shows (left to right), Joseph Iwanski, the slain boy; the once happy family and another son, Sigmund, 14, who is a deaf-mute but normal boy.

Panama's Land Grant To 5,000 Sq. Miles

BRITISH CONCESSION in the state of Veraguas, Panama, said to be rich in gold and minerals, is shown on above map. Shaded portion is concession, Dr. El Joff Elvez, who is described as an "Empire Builder," and who heads the organization back of the concession, says, "There is no need of the United States to become concerned over this project." Washington denies that it is concerned and that it violates the Monroe Doctrine. The New York Sun, in its London dispatch, says this enterprise is certain to attract considerable more attention in the immediate future than it has already done.

22-Year-Old London Girl Climbs Mount Kilimanjaro

By ROBERT J. PREW
(By Universal Service)

LONDON, Oct. 19.—An account as just reached here of how Miss Sheila Macdonald, a 22-year-old African mountain climber, made the first time the feat has been accomplished by a woman—how she set the face for her two men companions, and how after one of them had been forced to give up through physical exhaustion she pressed on undaunted to the summit.

Miss Macdonald went to East Africa in July to stay with relatives, and finding herself so close to the highest mountain in Africa forthwith decided to climb it. Her companions were William C. West, a member of the Alpine Club, and Major Lennox Browne, a mountaineer of some experience.

West, in an account of the climb, said the party arrived at Mombassa on July 21. The ascent of Mawenzi, one of the two peaks of Kilimanjaro, about 17,570 feet, was made up a chimney where the leader had to pull the others up after him. The main color was gaunt and bleak, filled with shale and ice, and overhung with heavy sheets of ice. A remarkable natural rock staircase about two feet wide led with only occasional breaks almost to the top of the couloir. On the summit of Mawenzi the party found records of the two 1912 expeditions.

They went down the same way to a hut, and after a day's rest began the ascent of Kibo, the other summit of Kilimanjaro, 19,720 feet. They found a cave to sleep in till midnight, and then pushed on till their lantern went out, and they had to stop till dawn.

When they had reached a height of 19,000 feet Major Browne was overcome by physical exhaustion.

The tobacco shades seem to be supplanting the popular beige. Often an entire costume is in the tobacco tones, but, as a rule, a note of color is introduced by a brightly colored handbag.

Long Legged Men Organize In Fight On Short Beds

TOPEKA, Kas., Oct. 19.—Kansas, long famous for its championship of the down trodden, now has set in motion a world-wide crusade in behalf of a long-suffering martyr—the tall man.

At the national headquarters here of the National Long Fellows' Club it is reported that twenty-five states now have clubs of Long Fellows and that the national organization has members in England, Canada, Alaska and Mexico. The society expects to bring about an early revolution in the standard lengths for beds, berths, sheets and blankets provided for the guests in hotels and public conveyances.

The movement in behalf of the more-than-six-footers was started in the state house here last March by H. W. Behrens, state senator and Phil E. Zimmerman, state hotel commissioner. Senator Behrens was made national president and Mr. Zimmerman, national secretary-treasurer.

THE FIRST CLUB

The first city club of Long Fellows was organized in Chicago. Kansas City and other cities later formed club and the organization spread rapidly. Hotels throughout the country have sent communications to national headquarters offering to provide special accommodations for tall men.

Applicants for membership are required to measure at least six feet, one inch in their shoes. Many of the members are traveling men who suffer much inconvenience from the inadequate length of berths in Pullman cars and of hotel beds and bathtubs.

Longer shirts and trousers, greater leg space in motor cars, taller tables and chairs, and higher doorways, overhead signs and chandeliers are among the planks in the platform of the National

Long Fellows' club.

TALLEST MAN

The tallest member at present is Leo Hantley of Staanta, Kas., who is 6 feet, 11 inches. He was the tallest soldier in the A. E. F. during the World War. Senator Behrens, the national president is six feet, 7 inches, and is the tallest legislator in the United States. The youngest Long Fellow is an 18-year-old boy of Alton, Ill. He is Robert Wadlow, 6 feet, 2 1/2 inches tall.

The society counts among its members many of the leading citizens of the United States. Dan Anthony is vice-president for the District of Columbia; Gov. Dan Moody is vice-president for Texas, and Jess Willard, former world's heavyweight champion holds a high position. Ernest Davis, tenor, is an enthusiastic member. Many Kansas state officials comprise the executive committee. There are only five women members, although women are invited to belong.

Sulphur Clears Skin Right Up

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mantho-Sulphur, declares a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation begins at once to soothe irritated skin and heal eruptions such as rash, pimples and ring worm. It seldom fails to remove the torment and disfigurement, and you do not have to wait for relief from embarrassment. Improvement quickly shows. Sufferers from a skin trouble should obtain a small jar of Rowley Mantho-Sulphur from any good druggist.

Gentlemen, I suffered from Leakage of the Heart, Enlargement, Pain and High Blood Pressure. The pain extended to my back and left arm. I tried many local physicians, but found no relief at all.

After I had seen your advertisement about overcoming Heart Trouble I decided to write to you for Herbs. Your Herb treatment is indeed wonderful. When I had finished taking a four-week supply of the herbs, all my pain had left me.

You deserve unstated praise for what you have done for me. I shall continue to take the herbs until I am certain that I have completely recovered and am sound and healthy in every respect.

PLANS RUSHED FOR NEW BANK IN RICHMOND

Architects are now completing final plans and specifications for the construction of the new building for the Richmond Commercial and Savings bank at Twelfth street and Macdonald avenue, according to an announcement made yesterday by George Barnett, president of the bank.

The building will cost approximately $50,000.

It is expected that the plans will be placed in the Richmond building exchange within three weeks for the accommodation of local contractors.

The wood frame building now occupying the site will be removed shortly. Workmen are now raising it from its foundation preparatory to moving the structure.

Charles Lind of the De Luxe studio, who has occupied the frame building for more than ten years, is seeking a new location, but has not as yet announced his choice.

The new building will be one of the most modern of small banks in the Eastbay district and will have a main banking room two stories in height. The large windows on Twelfth street and on Macdonald avenue will insure adequate daylight for the interior.

Abolishment Of Two Fare Rate To County Line Sought

(Continued From Page 1.) traffic, miscellaneous and general expense, or any interest return on the investment. The line is in immediate need of rehabilitation, requiring a considerable financial expenditure not justified by the record therein, and its continued maintenance and operation under existing conditions would impose an unfair and unwarranted burden on other users of applicant's system, who would be required to meet the deficit occasioned by the continued operation of the San Lorenzo branch line. We, therefore, find as a fact that the public convenience and necessity do not require the continued maintenance and operation of said branch line, and that the application should be granted.

The transportation of school children, who will be deprived of the use of applicant's line will doubtless be cared for by the school district as is customary when public transportation facilities are not available.

COMPROMISE OF VALUE—If the line in Richmond were abandoned as asked for, it would leave many sections of the city without any transportation facilities, and would have depreciated the value of the property in the eastern section from ten to twenty percent. Our efforts were then devoted to saving what we could, and out of the many conferences held, a compromise was reached, and we saved the Sixth street line, and the Twenty-third street line, except from San Pablo and Macdonald to Grand Canyon park.

In addition we secured $20,000 from the Key System to be used in paying for a portion of the expense of paving the center strip on Macdonald avenue, and we persuaded them to consent to the re-location of the tracks on Standard avenue, so that thoroughfare could be widened and repaved.

FAITH KEPT—In justice to the Key System, I want to say that many rocks have been thrown at it, but an agreement has been reached, and if the council goes fit to ratify it tonight, I think the people of the city should join with the council, and use their best efforts to help the system to pay. Paul Goldsmith and Paul St. Sure with whom we have had most of our negotiations have made good with us on everything they promised.

"To the people who were here last Monday night and made a protest, I want to say that every effort is to be made to provide them with suitable transportation."

AGREEMENT HELD SAVING—Paul St. Sure, representing the Key System then made a statement, in which he said that he thought the agreement that had been entered into would give the city a real saving and a much better service in the future. "In view of the order that has been made by the railroad commission in the San Lorenzo line matter, I feel safe in saying that if this agreement with Richmond had not been entered into, and was to come up anew that the company would hesitate about agreeing to it."

FARE BOOK PROPOSED

"Another matter that will be of vital interest to the people of Richmond is the application now pending before the railroad commission in which the request is made that authority be granted to the company to put out fare books. For $1 you can buy a book that will entitle you to ride as many times a day on the line as you desire. If this petition is granted the Key System will immediately ask the commission to re-zone this territory, and will ask that the two fare system between the county line and the end of the line at the Standard and one fare be substituted. This will mean one fare from any point in the city of Richmond to the Alameda county line. I believe this action will tend to draw business to your city instead of taking it away. We also hope to so change the system that Richmond will be given fast interurban service in the near future."

Then came the action of the council passing the resolutions advertising the franchise for sale. Any person is entitled to bid for them, but it is not expected there will be any bidder other than the Key System as people are not going into the street car business any more.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR WATER AT SCHOOL MADE

The new Woodrow Wilson elementary school now in course of construction at Forty-second street and Roosevelt avenue, will be supplied with water by the East Bay Water company, it was announced yesterday as a result of the hearing held before the State Railroad Commission Tuesday.

An agreement has been reached between the East Bay company and Fred Meyers of the Pullman Water company under which a connection from the East Bay mains to the new school was authorized.

Meyers claims that he asked the East Bay company to make the connection four months ago and said that he had never had any objections to the East Bay company furnishing water to the school. His objections, he declared, were to the company's supplying domestic consumers with service. This question has not been decided by the railroad commission. It is said that the controversy between the two companies which has lasted for three years, is no nearer solution now than formerly.

City Superintendent of Schools W. T. Helms stated yesterday that while an agreement between the two companies had been settled, an order from the State Railroad Commission was needed before the mains could be connected. Such an order is expected soon, he declared.

RICHMOND DAY ON WEDNESDAYS OVER "KTAB"

Beginning yesterday every Wednesday is "Richmond Day" over radio broadcasting station KTAB of Oakland.

This was the announcement yesterday by the Richmond Chamber of Commerce. Through the courtesy of KTAB and Mrs. J. T. Conwell, Richmond dramatic leader and teacher, 10 minutes out of the hour between 4 o'clock and 5 o'clock every Wednesday afternoon will be devoted to a message about Richmond, prepared by the Chamber of Commerce. Mrs. Conwell read this first message yesterday (Wednesday) and will have another message next Wednesday. It is hoped to make this a regular Wednesday feature over KTAB during the forthcoming year.

A. L. Paulsen, chairman of the chamber of commerce publicity committee speaking of the new Richmond radio program said, "Through the courtesy of KTAB we will be able to spread the story of Richmond over a wide area, North, South, East and West. The messages will give a complete picture of every Richmond activity and appeal to home-seekers, individual and industry alike. Richmond folk should tune in on KTAB every Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock and get this message about Richmond. They will learn a lot about their city and learn to appreciate their community more."

The government scored its first important victory in the trial in fighting for the admission into the record of the famous Fall letter to Doherty in July, 1921, in which the defendant had assured the California oil king that he, Fall, was then in complete charge of the leasing in the naval reserves. The defense had insisted that sub-officials handled the matter.

In his decision written for the United States Superior Court in cancelling the Teapot Lease Justice Butler characterized the letter as having been written in "an exultant mood."

The legal argument of the letter's admissibility concluded, Justice Siddons adjourned for the noon recess.

After the recess Roberts read the Fall-to-Doherty letter to the jury.

It said: "There will be no possibility of conflict with Navy officials because I have notified Secretary Denby that I shall handle the matter."

FOREIGN WAR VETS TO PLAN FOR RECEPTION

May Wed Brother-In-Law

MRS. ANNA WALSH SNYDER CARRINGTON (center) decided that she pleads the wrong Carrington brother when she married Col. Edward C. Carrington (left), millionaire book publisher, manager of Col. Roosevelt's "Ball House" campaign, and brother of Campbell Carrington (right), wealthy and socially prominent lawyer. Last year the two brothers fought over Mrs. Carrington and their troubles were aired in court, where she was given a divorce from her husband. Now it is reported that she and Campbell are to be married as soon as possible. But none of the Carringtons will discuss the matter.

East Bay Citizens Unite To Vote For Water Bonds

Completion of a municipal ownership program for water in the East Bay can only be assured through passage of the $25,000,000 bonds for a distribution system on November 1, speakers at many meetings told interested groups of citizens in various parts of the district yesterday.

The importance of voting to insure that the bonds shall receive a two-thirds majority was emphasized in the hope that the election will see one of the largest outpourings of the electorate seen at any recent election.

According to the campaign committee the appeal is directly to the pocketbooks of the tax payers inasmuch as complete municipal ownership of water will permit the financial burden to be carried out of the tax bills which the people will pay directly to themselves, thus relieving them of the burden of taxes which it is said will become heavier as the years go on unless some way is found to provide revenue.

According to Fred N. Morcom, chairman of the Citizens' Committee, the sentiment in favor of the bonds is rising rapidly as people become convinced that the $25,000,000 bond issue is not one that will increase the financial burden of the East Bay cities but, on the other hand, is one that will help to bring about a reduction in taxes. He said that the public seems willing to follow Dr. Farber in his analysis of the situation which shows that the $5,000,000 a year revenue now enjoyed by the East Bay Water Company, and which would flow into the treasury of the district under municipal ownership, and will be sufficient to carry the interest charges and operating costs both on the Mokelumne mountain water system and on the local distribution plant. He pointed out that the East Bay cities are definitely committed to municipal ownership through their investment of $35,000,000 for the Mokelumne project but that benefits from that investment cannot be forthcoming until a distribution system is owned by the people.

The Speakers' Bureau, under Dr. J. L. Gresham, will carry an intensive speaking campaign during the remaining time between now and November 1. Nearly two score organizations of various kinds have given their endorsement to the bonds and new endorsements are being received daily, Dr. Gresham said.

BROADCASTING VALUES TOLD TO KIWANIS

The social and educational results of broadcasting over radio were discussed yesterday before the Richmond Kiwanis club by Rev. George T. Phillips, pastor of the Tenth avenue Baptist church, owner and operator of Radio KTAB. He spoke of the use being made of the radio station in broadcasting religious services and illustrated its far-reaching effect by the number of telegrams received from distant points. Ralph Kelley was chairman of the day. Solos on small and large harmonicas were played by Joe Defarrio.

Hall W. Sanders, on behalf of Dr. A. B. Hinkley, exalted ruler of the Richmond lodge of Elks extended an invitation to the Kiwanians to attend the cornerstone laying of the new Woodrow Wilson elementary school next Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.
